

HOW TO ACKNOWLEDGE THE RE ROSS TRUST

HOW TO ACKNOWLEDGE THE RE ROSS TRUST

Congratulations on receiving a grant from The RE Ross Trust

The RE Ross Trust does not insist grant recipient organisations publicise any grants your organisation receives from the Ross Trust. However if an organisation wishes to acknowledge the assistance of the Ross Trust in any published or display material here are some basic guidelines to take into consideration.

Referring to The RE Ross Trust

If you would like to acknowledge a grant that you have received from The RE Ross Trust, please refer to the Trust by its legal full name “The RE Ross Trust” and please use one of the following phrases:

- ‘acknowledge the support of The RE Ross Trust’
- ‘funded by The RE Ross Trust’
- ‘received a grant from The RE Ross Trust’

Please note the Ross Trust DOES NOT ‘SPONSOR’ or ‘PARTNER’ projects or organisations and should not be referred to as a Partner or Sponsor in any published material.

The Ross Trust does not endorse projects or organisations without express permission granted directly from the Trustees to the organisation in question.

If you would like to include some background on the Ross Trust, the following may be useful:

“The R E Ross Trust is a perpetual charitable trust established in 1970 in Victoria by the will of the late Roy Everard Ross.”

If you would like to use the Ross Trust logo in an article or other publication, please contact the Ross Trust office either by phone on 03 9690 6255 or via email at information@rosstrust.org.au.

If you would like to include a quote from the Ross Trust in any media reports or publications, please contact the Ross Trust on 03 9690 96255, or via email at information@rosstrust.org.au.

If you are planning to issue a news release or producing a publication that mentions the Ross Trust, we would be grateful to receive a copy, either by post to
